

Overview of Projects Totaling $2.3 Billion in the Upcoming 83 Bond Elections in Texas

Bond elections provide cities, counties, school districts, special districts, etc. a way to finance much-needed projects and Texas has 83 such elections scheduled for May 8, 2010, with a total combined package cost of $2.3 billion.

The bond packages that pass will result in numerous contracting opportunities for all types of firms.

Strategic Partnerships, Inc. (SPI) has produced a research document (The Texas Bond Data Package) which is of significant value to busy government contracting sales teams. The document includes the following:

- 1) A list of each public entity sponsoring the bond package
- 2) Project information, details and data related to planned initiatives in each bond package

This document is ready now. And, immediately following the vote on May 8, SPI will deliver election results—a statewide listing of bond elections that passed.

As an added benefit, purchasers will also receive an outline of bond packages under discussion for November 2010 and beyond. Interested parties should contact Reagan Weil at (512) 531-3917.
